VOL. II. NO. 186.

CHICAGO, FRIDAY, OCTOBER 30, 1896.

RACING GOSSIP.

An Eastern critic, Adair, in the current number of that respectable journal, Turf, Field and Farm, comments on Eastern racing in a commonsensical way. He declares that it has declined of late and finds the chief reason for such decline in the public notion in the Jockey Club's plutocracy and consequent out-of-lineism. Adair instances the Corrigan-Huron-Futurity of 1891 case as his first reason for present notion and justly declares that while the law was with the Jockey Club (via the Coney Island club) the equity was with Ed Corrigan. Adair is right. He also comments—not deeply enough—on certain social essays in a racing way of the Jockey Club and reasonably sums up his brief on the basis of American racing being in need of reasonable government—out of the legislation toward its rank and file. Adair does not go into present events or those of the recent past. Those have badly broken the Jockey Club's broad standing. The general turf body—of which the west furnishes 75 per cent—has watched the Jockey Club, since Mr. Belmont became its chief, with a critical eye. That eye was sympathetic and friendly during its early gaze. The Jockey Club's cleanliness of administration on the edge of the passage of the Percy-Gray law pleased it. Mr. Belmont ruled the Jockey Club then and rules it still. He was keen and attentive at first. Its wisdom reflected the son of his father. But as the route grew clear, Mr. Belmont grew careless. Then he went to England and, when he came back, acquiesced in rulings on a leaning report that fined Taral in a non-fineable way for a similar offense that was adjudged as a reason for depriving Martin of his immediate livelihood and took sharp punitive action against western owners, when there seemed to be more need of such action against an Eastern clique. The Jockey Club through its recent action is adjudged to be full of its ancient and local meanness. In the past it has been astringently narrow. Under the early Belmont regime this astringency lessened. Carelessness allowed it to grow again. An American ruler is still needed and still out of view. Such a ruler could intelligently grade racing material, encourage live-and-let-live-ism, recognize local conditions and be fair and human in its action. But it isn't in sight.

NOTES OF THE TURF.

Buckrene broke his leg and was shot a few days ago at the "outlaw" track in operation at Singler, Md.

The Friar's race at Morris Park Tuesday marks him as a great colt. He carried his weight at seven furlongs over a stiff course the last part of the famous Withers mile and won in commanding fashion and good time. The Champagne Stakes has always been a sort of Eastern test for two-year-olds.

A Kentucky yearling filly, by Trafalgar, out of Lucy Lewis, a gray mare by Spendthrift, has, it is said, burned up the Kentucky tracks and $4,000 has been refused for her. Her best bits of work were three furlongs in 35 seconds and a half mile in 49 seconds. S. P. Lancaster of Bardstown, Ky., owns the filly. She is richly engaged in the 1897 stakes.

CALIFORNIA J. C. STAKES.

Owners should not forget that the California Jockey Club Stakes close Saturday. They should also notice the new reservation of the right on the part of the club to change the steeplechase stake events to hurdle races of about the same distance and to run them on the main track at Oakland.

BRYAN WINS A FINE RACE.

Bryan met Caulfield again yesterday at three-quarters and beat him in a drive by a nose, just like he did when the pair came together last Saturday. The same boys rode and Caywood outfinished Clay a bit. Cossack and Logan were in yesterday's race and it was a hot betting affair. Foster's horse was the favorite backed from 2 to 1 to 8 to 5. Cossack was cut a point from fives and Mr. Shields had a big bet down on old Logan. Caulfield went to the front at the start and set a lively pace to the stretch, where Bryan joined him, and in a ding dong finish, got the verdict. Bryan was 7 to 1 and many a sentiment bet was won on him.

The finish in the mile and one-sixteenth race was also a close one, Ragner beating Newhouse a short head. Dorsey rode Ragner and handled her well. The boy can ride well, yet seldom does.

It was a good day for the ring only one favorite, Necedah, scoring. She was 7 to 5, a very liberal price, and won in a gallop, on her class. W. Taylor rode her and did everything but fall off. The filly was pounds the best and there was no way for her to lose.

B. J. Johnson's Little Eye at 5 to 1 got out of the maiden class easily in the first race. Bender was the favorite but J. Healy who rode him was in a trance and finished fifth. The ride was a careless one and the judges suspended the boy.

Lady Callahan won the two-year-old event off by herself, and Glenoid had little trouble in disposing of Countess Irma and Serena in the closing event.

Mary Portland was well backed, but could not run fast enough to even be a factor.
